

The Key to raising Accomplished Children

Master Coach Martina Caviezel lovingly supports parents to feel empowered to become the best version of themselves.

“Growing up my mother always made it seem so easy to raise children. I thought it was going to be a piece of cake,” says Martina Caviezel. And then, when Martina became pregnant with her 4th child, she felt exhausted, frustrated, and alone in a world where parents and their babies are always portrayed in a perfect light. She wondered how she could raise 4 children and still feel empowered and sane while doing it, loving them unconditionally and continuing to discover who they were becoming every day.

For over 5 years she has coached moms and dads towards self-development specifically focused on the parent. Her highly acclaimed Art Of Parenting course gives overwhelmed parents who want more love and connection in their relationships with their children the 7 distinctions to feel ease, confident, capable and loving regardless of the age or stage of development of their child.

Martina’s mission is to see a world where everyone is free to be themselves, both parents and their children. So her work consists of supporting parents to develop themselves into the parents they always wanted to be, so that they can be the role model they want to be for their kids. She explains the distinct difference between being the parent and doing the parenting: one is about working on oneself to be the role model we want to be, the other is doing the work of parenting.

Her children, 2 sons, now 22 and 19 years old attending college, an 18 year old daughter who is a college freshman, and a 15 year old daughter who is a sophomore in highschool, all well adjusted and thriving as proof of the success of her methods.

Raised in Argentina and Switzerland, Martina has lived in the U.S. for 25 years. She founded www.ArtOfParenting.info. She is the go-to-expert for parents who want to bring more meaning, patience and fun into their family life.

Martina is super passionate about her mission to lovingly support parents so they in turn can empower their kids. “No mom or dad should secretly feel alone and overwhelmed when raising their child turns out to be much more complicated than they expected.” Martina’s inspirational presentations are interactive and engaging. Her audiences leave feeling heard and respected with a newfound sense of empowerment and enthusiasm for their important role as guide for their kids.
